Perkins of High Finance

Remarkable Career of the New York Life's Vice President

Personal Side of a Man Who is an Interesting Outgrowth of Modern Business Conditions—How He Rose From an Office Boy to Be J. Pierpont Morgan's Partner in Twenty-three Years—Life Ambition Was to Be a Photographer

Adept at Organizing and a Wonderful Factor in Writing Insurance—A Financial Leader Who Transacts Business on His Feet—Has Been Called "The Smartest Man in New York." Quick, Impetuous Talker—Fond of Theater and Golf

GEORGE W. PERKINS has been called "the smartest man in New York." He is aware that he has been so called, and furthermore, he is aware that the designation is correct. Now, there are many smart men who do not know it, and there are many who know it who are not smart men. Where the quality and the consciousness of the quality are found wrapped up in one personality they make a happy combination. Mr. Perkins' estimate of his own worth is found in his recent rather remarkable testimony before the New York legislative committee which is charged with the investigation of the various insurance companies. Mr. Perkins, besides being a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, also chairman of the finance committee of the steel trust and holding various other important positions in the world of money, is vice president and chairman of the finance committee of the New York Life Insurance company. Here is his deliberate statement:

"Now I want to say, and I want this on the record, that I believe I have

I will instruct you about your duties in detail when I reach Chicago. Trusting that you will succeed in filling the place in a manner that will enable me always to make a favorable report in reference to your work, believe me, ever your affectionate father.

GEORGE W. PERKINS. Exhibit B tells how the boy improved his opportunity, following the suggestions in the letter and going them several points better. Here it is in figures:

	Salary.
1872—Office boy	$300
1881—Clerk	1,200
1886—Cashier	1,500
1887—Agency representative and solicitor	3,500
1888—General agency director	15,000
1893—Third vice president	20,000
1898—Increase for same duties	25,000
1899—Second vice president	30,000
1901—Vice president, when he remained with the company despite an offer from Mr. Morgan	75,000
1902—Divided his time with J. P. Morgan & Co. and remained vice president at	25,000

How much he received as a partner of Morgan no one knows, but it was probably not less than $200,000 or $300,000 per year. From $300 a year up to that figure, and all that in less agents. It was only when called to New York to take charge of all the agents of the company in the world that the young man finally relinquished his cherished hope of becoming a photographer.

Another point worthy of note—Perkins had an idea. His scheme was for organizing the agency business. Before he was thirty he was given charge of the agencies in several states, where he could develop his plan. He himself testified that he then was given $15,000 per year, the highest sum ever paid an agency director. So well did he succeed that shortly afterward the office of third vice president was created for him and he was put in charge of all the agents, where he could work out his idea to the full.

There is a startling similarity between the careers of Perkins and Gage E. Tarbell, the real power in the Equitable. Both started in Chicago, both made their mark as agency directors, both were elected third vice presidents of their respective companies and both are given credit for working up the immense business brought in by their agents.

Taken Up by Morgan.

The story of how Perkins was taken up by Morgan is thus told: In addition to his many other duties the young insurance man had been intrusted by his fellow citizens with gathering a fund to preserve the famous Palisades along the Hudson river. One day he called on Morgan for a subscription. After signing his name for a liberal amount, Mr. Morgan pointed to a chair on the other side of his desk, and said: "I'll give you $100,000 a year, Perkins, if you'll move over here and occupy that seat."

"Are you joking?" inquired Mr. Perkins. "Certainly not," said Mr. Morgan. "I feel the need of an energetic young man in this office and have had my eye on you for some time."

After further conversation Mr. Perkins agreed to take the offer under consideration, but finally declined it at the request of the directors of the New York Life Insurance company. A few weeks later Mr. Morgan renewed the proposition and offered him a partnership in the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Transacts Business on His Feet.

George Walbridge Perkins was born in Evanston, Ill. He is only forty-three years old and hence is good for at least a quarter of a century more as a financial leader. He lives at Riverside-on-the-Hudson; is fond of the water and golf; rises at 6:30 each morning; spends his forenoons at the New York Life and his afternoons at J. P. Morgan & Co.'s office; for many years he has made a specialty of international finance. At the beginning of his career he was noted for his serenity, suavity and frank and easy politeness. This was a new element at Morgan's, where there had been something of an atmosphere of gruffness. In later years, the busy life he has led has told on the former Chicago insurance solicitor, and an increasing nervousness has been the result. He hardly ever sits, but spends most of his time walking about the office, transacting most of his business on his feet. He is under six feet in height and well proportioned. His eyes and hair are brown. He looks not unlike George J. Gould. He is a quick and impetuous talker, and while giving his testimony often stopped and asked the reporters—court and newspaper—if he was going too fast for them. He does not dress expensively, and is democratic in manner. He has frequently said that he will never sever his connection with the New York Life, as his soul is wrapped up in that. His life work lies there. Mr. Perkins has handled many foreign loans, one of them being for $10,000,000 to M. Witte while that statesman was finance minister of Russia. It was in a negotiation with Perkins that M. Rothstein, the great Russian financier and president of the International Bank of Commerce, came to America.

Mr. Perkins says of himself, "It is true I am an instance of what a young man can do in this country." And, again, "Hard work and strict attention to business have been my rule through life."

Returning to that testimony—one of the most startling things Mr. Perkins said, perhaps the most startling to the student of economic and social questions, was this: "The old idea that competition is the life of trade is an exploded idea. Competition is no longer the life of trade; it is co-operation."

That coming from the lips of a man in the position of George W. Perkins is at least significant.

J. A. EDGERTON

There are many little side lights on Mr. Perkins' career that reveal much. For example, it was his life ambition to be a photographer. He accepted the place as office boy to earn enough money to buy a camera. He still dreamed of a photographic career when he became a bookkeeper. The aspiration was yet with him when he was made insurance solicitor. Nor had he forgotten it when he became a director of

WORK OF JAP SURGEONS

Dr. Suzuki Tells How Deaths From Disease Were Lessened.

DUE TO THE ASEPTEIC METHOD

Japanese Surgeon General Says There Was Very Little Field Surgery—Bullet and Shell Wounds Were Treated With Sterilized Water and Cotton and Left to Heal.

At the annual banquet of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists at the Hotel Astor in New York the other night Surgeon General Suzuki of the imperial Japanese navy told about 100 of the most prominent surgeons in the United States how the mortality had been kept down in the recent war, says the New York Times. The reason, he explained, was simply the aseptic methods well understood by the surgeons in the United States, but which has never been applied in any war before. This was the very thing about which the surgeons most wished to hear him speak of, for, as they confessed, the low death rate which the Japanese add to their credit had astonished the world.

"I have just come from the front," Surgeon General Suzuki explained when he rose to speak, "and I am on my way to the congress at Detroit. It is some time since I have been here, and my tongue has grown a bit rusty."

"I will talk to you about that in which I know you must be most interested as surgeons—namely, our treatment of the wounded. The method, I know, is familiar to you; you use it here in your practice. It was, however, never tried in the field before, and I think you will be interested in it."

"You know that quite awhile before our war began it was being talked of, and I was careful to make some preparation for the war when it should come. In writing to localities from which the surgeons were to be chosen I asked for two kinds of men. Those who were familiar with the aseptic method and those who were conservative. By conservative I meant those surgeons who would not too quickly relieve the wounded of arms and legs by amputation."

"We used no carbolic acid or other antiseptic. We used simply sterilized water and sterilized cotton. In most instances we did not attempt to probe the wound for the bullet or the fragment of a shell. We simply washed the edges of the wound with the sterilized water and then bound it up with this sterilized cotton. We lost no time on the battlefield in performing hazardous or complicated surgery. We simply washed the skin and the edge of the wound with this cleansed cotton, and we found that in most instances it healed with remarkable celerity."

"Our most recent war, you remember, was with China, and that was ten years ago. I was absolutely responsible for this new method, and you may be assured that I was very anxious to learn how it should turn out. I have the most gratifying result to tell you of, for treated in this way we lost in one hospital only 32 out of 680 men who were admitted. You must know that this is very low."

"I have told you that our method was not to probe for bullets and shells immediately, for we have learned that bullets and shells are aseptic. A captain, for example, on one of the warships where I was stationed was shot in the calf of the leg. The fragment of the shell had entered so deep into the wound that it was not easy to get at. We washed it with aseptic cotton and it healed readily. Later, when he had more time, he went to a hospital to have the fragment of a shell cut out, which was done, and the wound healed quickly."

"It was only when a fragment of cloth was forced into the wound that it suppurated. So when we found that the wound was not healing as it should we opened it again and got the fragment of cloth out. Then it generally healed."

"I would like you to bear in mind that it was not I who achieved these splendid results, but the men under me. I merely did the directing, they in a great measure did the work."

The Japanese surgeon general was heartily cheered by the surgeons, both when he entered the hall and at the conclusion of his speech.

An Asylum Without Locks.

The asylum for incurably insane at South Bartonville, Ill., is now without locks and bars, the last one having been removed by Superintendent Zeller, says a Peoria (Ill.) dispatch to the Kansas City Star. This is in accordance with a step long in contemplation by Dr. Zeller, he having become convinced that more can be accomplished by kindness than by forcible restraint. The inmates now enjoy a large personal liberty, and the effect has been apparent in a notable improvement in their conduct.

Autumn Leaves.

Flower and leaf of vine and tree. Grass of meadow, weed of mire—Summer gathered them to be Fagots for the autumn's fire.

Smoke like haze on vale and hill. Flames of gold and crimson bright. Into life now leap and fill. Field and forest with their light.

All the glory of the year Kindled into beauty so. Soon the winter will be here; Soon the curfew—then the snow.

So these lovely leaves I lay In my book, all gold and red; Embers for a winter's day. When the autumn's fire is dead.

Mary of the Bare Feet.

Mary was a raw German girl, but seemed anxious to learn, so Mrs. Herbert undertook the task of instructing her as to her duties in answering the door.

Mrs. Herbert's first "at home" day arrived, and as she was a stranger and very anxious to make a good impression on those friends to whom her letters of introduction had been sent she gave Mary a special drill at the last moment.

When the first callers arrived, the most exclusive and stylish ladies of the little town, Mary ushered them in gracefully and then presented herself to her mistress upstairs, cap, kerchief, white apron, silver tray, card, all in correct array, and with bare feet. It had struck her that it would be cooler this warm day, and nothing had been said about feet.—Good Housekeeping.

Rain Much Better.

A certain campaign speaker visited a central Massachusetts town last fall for the sole purpose of winning over to his candidate a certain rich and influential old farmer. This farmer was persuaded to attend the meeting, and at the close a local politician sounded him as to his opinion of the speech by the imported orator.

"The farmer was noncommittal. 'Really, now, that was a good three hour talk, a beneficial speech, wasn't it? Don't you think it helped the country?' persisted the politician. 'Well, maybe,' drawled the old farmer, 'but I think a three-hour rain would have done more good.'—Philadelphia Ledger.

Considerate Husband.

"George, dear," said the bride of three short months as the freight payer of the combine was about to start for his office, "I wish you would let me have a little pin money. I want to go shopping today." "Never mind, Nellie," replied the other half of the sketch. "It's going to be an awful hot day, and you had better not venture downtown. So instead of giving you the money I'll bring home half a dozen papers by pins tonight."

The Hitch.

"So your wife has resigned from the society organized to demonstrate the superiority of woman?" "Yes," answered Mr. Meekton, "there was some little dispute as to the presidency. They were entirely agreed as to the superiority of all women over men, but couldn't allow any one woman to be superior to the rest."—Washington Star.

REVENUE CUTTER WORK

Value of Service Organized by Alexander Hamilton.

FINE RECORD IN YELLOW JACK WAR

How Vessels Have Done Good Work in Enforcing Quarantine Against Dread Disease in Waters About New Orleans—Service May Be Used to Augment the Navy in Time of War.

Six small sailing vessels patrolling our Atlantic coast in search of smugglers made the beginning of the revenue cutter service that has recently proved its value in enforcing quarantine against yellow fever, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Post. When Alexander Hamilton taxed the resources of the youthful states to equip boats for detective duty under the treasury department of 1790 no fertile imagination pictured the variety of service that would be demanded or the good that could be done by their successors in the next hundred years and more. That service was the basis of the United States navy, but a comparatively few years brought a parting of courses, and, while one arm has been developed to overseas and destroy, the other has steadily extended to protect and help the ways of peace. Revenue cutters have saved thousands of lives. They annually visit the farthest points in the American possessions, and they carry news and assistance to the lonely and shipwrecked.

The service maintained on the quarantine lines about New Orleans and the district infected with yellow fever furnishes a single illustration. Five vessels have patrolled the coast line night and day to capture and inspect the fishing craft and larger vessels that try to break through. Over 600 vessels have already been held up and inspected, many being sent to quarantine station at Gulfport and Ship Island for disinfection and further examination of suspected cases of fever. It has been a tedious, thankless duty, with constant exposure to the dangers of fever, and one of the crew of the Winona was taken with the disease and sent to the marine hospital.

Captain W. G. Ross, chief of the service, who was in charge of the quarantine for six weeks, excited much comment by the fearless way he went about. He relied entirely on his rugged physique and attention to his general surroundings for protection, and, as he has remarked since returning to Washington, had no fear of contagion. He slept in quarters from which mosquitoes were excluded as far as possible. He has less fear of the disease now than ever and believes good health and sanitary conditions prove ample protection.

The revenue cutter service has been under the supervision of the treasury department since those first small boats were sent out by Hamilton, except on occasions when our war have led the president to take advantage of the statute to place the vessels under the navy department. The duties include the enforcement of all laws affecting the maritime interests of the United States, the prevention of illicit traffic by sea, compelling all craft to comply with legal requirements as to ships' papers, lights, inspection and passenger laws, and the rescue and assistance of distressed vessels and crews—in fact, the cutter service is the great humanitarian branch of our government, its activities extending over land and sea. Its varied duties have furnished subjects for many stories of fiction. One officer now in the service remarked recently that he was first interested in its possibilities through reading J. Fenimore Cooper's "Wing and Wing."

Those in the service point with pride to the record of lives saved. During the Spanish-American war the cutter Hudson, under command of Captain F. H. Newcomb, rescued the torpedo boat Winslow from the damaging fire of the Spaniards at Cerdanias, while one of the minor achievements noted was the voyage of the McCulloch to Hongkong with the first news of Admiral Dewey's victory at Manila.

The cruise of the revenue cutter Bear and the rescue of more than 250 sailors from shipwrecked whaling vessels at Point Barrow was an achievement worthy of special mention. The Bear reached San Francisco in December, 1897, when orders were issued dispatching the vessel on a return trip in the midst of an arctic winter to save the whalers. The voyage was successful and would have attracted much attention had not the victories of our navy in the war with Spain overshadowed all else. This cutter continues its annual visits to Point Barrow, which is the northernmost point of the continent. The cutter R. C. Perry has this year visited Attu island, the westernmost of the Aleutian chain, and found three white fishermen who had seen no white men nor had any news from the outside world for a year. Their first question was, "Who is president of the United States?"

While the cutter service is under existing law a part of the civil establishment, it may become available as a part of the military force of the country. The officers and crews must be proficient in naval drills and have practical knowledge of the use of firearms. Although the burden of the service is in the protection of the revenue and the enforcement of statutes affecting maritime interests, it has been abundantly shown in our wars that the boats of the revenue service prove of assistance in the navy. The life of the officers is not always peaceful, and young men who seek this service may expect nearly as much fighting experience as those who go into the larger arms of the service.

been the one most influential factor in the New York Life in bringing the hundreds of thousands of people into the company who are now there."

That thit sound concealed in another mouth, but the fact that every one familiar with the history of the New York Life must recognize the truth of the claim eliminates that element. Mr. Perkins truly has been the one most influential factor in writing the immense amount of insurance secured by the company. He knows it and frankly says so. No hiding of that light under a bushel. Investigating committees please take notice.

Could Talk Better Standing Up.

There are other noteworthy items in that testimony. Most of them were introduced voluntarily—in fact, one paper accused Mr. Perkins of making stump speeches from the witness box. This idea was perhaps borne out by the fact that the witness disdained a chair; said he could talk better standing up. Then, he did not wait for questions—simply went on telling his life history regardless. And it was so interesting that no one bothered him for some time. He began at the beginning. He told how he had started as an office boy for the New York Life at fifteen years of age. His father was some sort of an official in the company, and his name was also George W. Perkins. Here is the way young George got in, according to his own story. The following letter may be termed Exhibit A:

Pittsburg, March 27, 1878.

Dear George—I have obtained the situation for you in the New York Life to act for the present as my clerk for the salary of $25 per month, commencing April 1, 1878. Its continuance will depend upon your improvement in spelling and writing, which will need to be very rapid; also upon your care to attend to every thing given you to do promptly, without giving blunders or mistakes. And if making any blunders or mistakes, and if faithful to your duties it will lead eventually to some better position. Mr. Beers hopes that you will prove to be the coming man for the company.

than a quarter of a century, is something of a jump.

Startling Testimony.

Exhibit C in Mr. Perkins' testimony is probably the most sensational of all. In that many things were said, but the one thing that has excited most interest throughout the country was the admission by the witness that the New York Life had paid into the national campaign fund of the Republican committee in the last three campaigns a sum aggregating nearly $150,000. This money, he said, had been paid on the order of President John A. McCall without the knowledge of the finance committee. No one can measure the effect of this statement. It is liable to lead to unexpected legislation. But this article is not a study of politics, but of a man. The man is an interesting outgrowth of modern business conditions. He testified to many other startling things. One was that as vice president of the New York Life he sold to himself as partner of J. P. Morgan $800,000 worth of bonds. This happened one Saturday evening. The next Monday morning he as a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan sold back to himself as vice president of the New York Life the same $800,000 worth of bonds. As an interesting aside it may be remarked that it was at about this time that the state insurance examiner dropped in. This episode is merely mentioned to show that there are some things in high finance the layman can scarcely understand.

Dreamed of a Photographic Career.

There are many little side lights on Mr. Perkins' career that reveal much. For example, it was his life ambition to be a photographer. He accepted the place as office boy to earn enough money to buy a camera. He still dreamed of a photographic career when he became a bookkeeper. The aspiration was yet with him when he was made insurance solicitor. Nor had he forgotten it when he became a director of Mayor Crilly.

It goes without saying that Mayor A. J. Crilly has made a model Mayor for the city of Newark, and deserves a re-election to a second term as a testimonial of appreciation of past valuable services. Mayor Crilly can proudly stand upon the record he has made during his term of office as Mayor and ask the citizens of Newark, who have the best interests of the city at heart, to endorse him for a second term, irrespective of party, for he has given the people of Newark a model administration in every respect. He has given the city a clean, efficient and honest administration in which the public interests have been faithfully attended to. The laws have been faithfully and impartially executed, and the tax levy has been kept down to as reasonable proportions as possible, despite the increased expenditures required by the municipal code and the increasing wants of a large and growing city like Newark. Mayor Crilly has turned over more money in the way of fines and licenses into the city treasury than any Mayor who ever preceded him. To be Mayor of a large and growing city like Newark at the present time, with the complications arising out of the municipal code, and the growing demands of the city in all respects, requires a man of good sound common sense, high legal ability, and great executive force, as well as a man who is thoroughly and strictly honest. The citizens and taxpayers of Newark know that Mayor Crilly possesses all these qualifications in a pre-eminent degree. During a life which has largely been spent in the public service in various capacities, as Justice of the Peace, Deputy Sheriff and Sheriff and Mayor, not a breath of suspicion has ever been raised against his honesty and ability. With these high qualifications for this important office, and with the ability, judgment and skill in the discharge of its duties that his past experience has given him, together with the well known policy of his administration for the enforcement of law and order, no one can deny that he is best qualified for the duties of Mayor and the public welfare, and the best interests of the city demand his re-election to that office.

Republican Manufactures.

The Enquirer contained the following interview with a prominent manufacturer of Portsmouth, O.:

"We read in The Enquirer—everybody reads The Enquirer in our country—the interview with Arthur H. Bannon of our city, in which he stated that the anti-Herrick disaffection among our people would only number 200," said John T. Breese, the Portsmouth manufacturer, at the Grand, and we all laughed aloud. Mr. Bannon is a very clever attorney, brother of Congressman Henry Bannon, pleading a case, as it were. I never knew anything else but to be a Republican, and having canvassed this situation and know positively that Herrick will lose 1200 Republicans in Scioto county, Republicans who will vote against Herrick, men who cannot be swayed or influenced, and I put it at a minimum. That, as you see, will put the change over to 2,400. One third of the Republican ticket are against Herrick.

"We are all loyal national Republicans, but we cannot stand for Herrick, who is the limit of endurance in public affairs. I will name you these prominent manufacturers and other business men, Republicans, at my fingers' end, too numerous to publish, who are outspoken in their opposition to Herrick. Our county is afire, and there is more of it, in proportion to the vote, in Lawrence county and all over the Tenth congressional district. I care nothing for politics except as a matter of principle, and we are afire to this crisis in our state affairs, and Mr. Pattison being a Democrat cuts no figure with us. We want a man for governor and we will get him."

Since the American-Tribune has taken such a positive stand against Mayor Crilly's policy of clearing the streets of "plain drunks," the question arises as to what will be the policy in this regard of its own candidate for Mayor, whom it has extolled for his possession of "pugnacity" and "moral beauty" in a "large degree." Will the A.-T.'s candidate for mayor "relax a little on the harmless 'plain drunks'" as that paper demands? Certainly the good people of Newark will want to know pretty promptly and pretty positively whether Dr. McCleery endorses the stand that his organ has taken upon this subject.

Herrick Obeyed the Bosses.

(Cambridge Jeffersonian.)

Had Governor Herrick been as strenuous in the use and threat to use his veto against the abolition of spring elections as he was in the matter of the Brannock bill he could have easily prevented its enactment. But the bosses had determined to hinder, as far as possible, the independent voters of the party from governing their own local and municipal affairs in their own way, by running them in with state and national politics on a blanket ballot. This bill was uncalled for and unnecessary, because the adoption of the pending constitutional amendment was almost certainly assured, that would regulate the holding of elections in alternate years. It was passed and signed by the Governor because the bosses demanded it, in order to solidify their hold upon municipal affairs and thwart the independent voters.

AMERICAN-TRIBUNE THINKS DRUNKARDS SHOULD NOT BE PUT UNDER ARREST

Criticises Mayor Crilly for Keeping Streets Clear of Intoxicated Men and Thinks it a Shame That a Man in Beastly State of Intoxication Should be Carted to Prison—An Astounding Position Taken by the Republican Organ—The Party Should Blush for Its Paper's Blunder.

Under the head of "Democratic Justice," The American-Tribune prints a misleading statement regarding a police court item in which a man from Dresden was fined for being found dead drunk in a saloon, and then the paper proceeds to preach a moral sermon condemning the policy of arresting and punishing men for "plain drunks." The facts in this particular case are: The offender staggered into Burrell's saloon in company with another man (both strangers) and after staggering around called for drinks. They were told by the bartender that they had too much liquor already, and he refused to give them any. Then they called for cigars and while in the effort to light one the man fell over on the floor, where he lay dead drunk. The police were called, as a matter of course, and the offender was taken to the city prison, just as is done in every properly regulated city in the United States.

And this is the particular incident selected by The American-Tribune as the text for its denunciation of the enforcement of law and order for which the present city government is being praised by all good citizens.

It is a well-known fact that two years ago it was absolutely unsafe for a respectable woman to walk around the public square after dark on account of the large number of drunks which loitered about the courthouse and on the sidewalks on the south side of the square. At the beginning of Mayor Crilly's administration, orders were issued at once which broke up this practice, and the enforcement of law and order on the streets has been the Mayor's aim ever since.

But this condition of law and order on the streets and the policy which the Mayor is endeavoring to maintain brings down upon him the wrath of The American-Tribune.

HARK FROM THE TOMBS COMES CICKY'S DOLEFUL CRY!

General Dick, occasionally spoken of as Senator Dick, had himself interviewed in the Ohio State Journal and said: "The tariff is the chief issue in Ohio this fall!" In printing this the Journal says: "Nothing of a political nature that has happened this year equals this statement!" Yea, verily! it is something astonishing. But is General Dick right sure that it is the "tariff" that has stirred the people of Ohio to the revolutionary pitch? Perhaps it was the Wilnot Proviso or the Missouri Compromise that wrought them up to the present high key.

You don't know what the Wilnot Proviso and the Missouri Compromise are? Well, that's funny. They are about eighteen years younger than the Tariff Question.

Strange, too, that the people of Ohio don't know that it is the tariff issue that ails them. They have been consulting the best political doctors in the state who have told them that they have been secretly doped with the opium of Graft and Bossism, and that the only thing to do is to throw it up and get rid of it.

Mr. C. W. F. Dick winds up his mournful wail by saying: "Democratic success in Ohio under such circumstances would have a distressing effect on the business of the nation."

Oh, no, Charles William Frederick. The business of the nation will go on all right after that event. It is the business of the hungry twins, Graft and Bossism, that will receive a jolt that will make it look like a pewter 30-cent piece.

PURIFICATION OF THE PARTY HAS BECOME A NECESSITY

"The Republican party needs purification. The time has come to cleanse the party, and it must be done even if Herrick is sacrificed. Every great reform has been bought with great sacrifices, and the thought that we would lose a governor is no excuse, and should not deter fearless Republicans from doing their duty to their party. That duty, as I see it, is to defeat Herrick and restore the party to its old place—the people."—Hon. E. G. Ely of West Union, Williams county, formerly of Fulton, a Republican leader in the Seventieth and Seventy-first General assemblies.

PERRY COUNTY FAIR

Ahead of That of Last Year and the Agricultural Society There is a Good Condition.

New Lexington, O., Oct. 6.—The Perry county fair of 1905 has passed into history, and will be noted as a financial, as well as industrial success. The gate receipts exceeded last year's by more than $250, which places the agricultural society on good financial footing.

"The Perry Countain" was the title of a creditable journal issued Thursday and Friday for the fair, under the direction of the MacGahan club.

POOLROOM

Conducted on Lake Michigan Boat is Closed by the Forfeiture of Sailing License.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Gambling on Lake Michigan was stopped temporarily by the forfeiture of the sailing license of Captain Stephen Jones of the "Floating Poolroom." City of Traverse. Captain Jones was fined $500 for violating a government marine law, which he immediately paid. The trouble arose when federal officials discovered that the boat was transferred from the supposed ownership of Captain Jones to Harry Perry of the gambling combination. The law provides that when a vessel changes ownership a record must be made of the transfer, and if this law is not followed the license of the vessel is revoked and a fine of $500 imposed. The owners of the City of Traverse, it is said, failed to do this, and the action of the federal officials followed. The owners of the boat protested against the payment of the fine and an appeal will be made to the secretary of commerce and labor for a decision.

Sore Throat Wisdom
If every mother could realize the real danger that lurks behind every case of sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she had effected a cure every time a child has it.

Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Croup, Quinsy, Tonsilitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it!

Liniments or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure.

To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death. TONSILINE is the stitch in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the 25 or 50 cent sized bottle when you go to the drug store to get it. The Tonsiline Co., Canton, Ohio.

CELIA P. WINS AN EXCITING RACE

The Two Thirty Pace Runs Five Heats and Result Was in Doubt 'Til Last Heat Was Finished--Half Mile Running Race Furnished Bit of Excitement--Saturday's Program.

Another mammoth crowd sat in the grandstand and lined the track at the races at the Licking County Fair Thursday afternoon and all were kept interested in the races until after the fifth heat of the 2:30 pace, which was a most exciting race.

It was school children's day at the fair and while the spectators in the grandstand were not all children, there were thousands on the grounds. The agricultural board had distributed twelve thousand children's tickets over the county and with but few exceptions the schools were closed during the day.

The races were exciting, the afternoon's program being featured with a half mile running race The 2:17 trot and the 2:30 pace were closely contested, through each heat and the spectators were kept in a high state of excitement the whole time. It required the full five heats in the pacing race to pick the winner.

The running race in which five horses were entered, was exciting, the horses finishing under the wire in a bunch so as to be almost impossible for the spectators to pick the horses finishing second, third and fourth. The time was fast and there was some clever riding by one of the jockeys.

Coshocton, O., Oct. 6.—Miss Alice Finlay of this city, who left here in August to become a missionary in Japan, was in Tokyo during the "peace" riots and, with other Americans, had a narrow escape from the fury of the mob.

Labor Resolutions.
Cincinnati, O., Oct. 6.—At a spirited session of the Ohio Federation of Labor resolutions were adopted without dissenting voice demanding that convicts be put to work on the public highways; advising the demand for the Typographical union label as a help to the striking printers; denouncing the "running board" in use on summer streetcars; demanding that prison contract labor be abolished, or that all prison-made goods be so stamped; favoring free text books in the public schools, and demanding that stationary firemen be licensed as well as engineers.

Preacher Exculpated.
Urbana, O., Oct. 6.—The grand jury reported no indictment against Rev. Warren Wiant, the young Methodist minister from Christiansburg who was bound over on the charge of libel. This case attracted considerable attention and the community was divided in sentiment. It is claimed that Wiant accused young women of his congregation of being unchaste because they danced. He signed a statement for the prosecuting attorney in which he denied having said anything of the kind in public, and contended that he was simply following the teachings of the church.

Leach on the Lake.
Cleveland, O., Oct. 6.—Acting on authority given him by Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, Charles F. Leach, collector of customs for the port of Cleveland, will take a hand in the work of putting a stop to the depredations of fishing tugs in Canadian waters, and sailed from Detroit on the United States revenue cutter Morrill for a cruise over the lake fishing grounds in search of boats carrying fish caught in Canadian waters. He will take into custody all fishermen and cargoes found to be in violation of the United States customs laws.

Stoned For Abusing Hobo.
Loveland, O., Oct. 6.—C. E. Bay, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad detective, was mobbed by infuriated citizens, who took exceptions to his treatment of a hobo he arrested. Women who witnessed the affair stoned the detective, who escaped to the jail to elude the mob. He was arrested on the charge of assault with intent to kill, sworn out by several members of the crowd. The hobo was taken in charge by the citizens and given medical attention.

Fell From Scaffold.
Niles, O., Oct. 6.—While superintending the erection of a stack at Kittanning, Pa. Frank Klipp, superintendent of the Girard Boiler and Manufacturing company, fell from a scaffold, sustaining internal injuries and breaking a limb. Amputation was necessary, and death soon followed. Klipp was the organizer of the Girard boiler works and was prominent in the iron industry here for years. His wife died four weeks ago of heart failure.

Frick Library.
Wooster, O., Oct. 6.—President Holden of Wooster university announced that H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh would build an addition to the university library building. Frick in 1899 built at his own expense the main building, known as the Frick Memorial Library building, in honor of his parents. It is estimated that the addition will cost not less than $10,000. The main building cost $50,000.

RAILWAY RATE BILL IS READY

Congress Must Meet the Issue at the Coming Session.

PURPOSE OF THE MEASURE

It Is Not Intended That Power Shall Be Given Interstate Commerce Commission to Fix Rates Except Where Complaint Is Made—Townsend at the White House.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Congressman Townsend, one of the authors of the Esch-Townsend bill to regulate railway rates, which passed the house last winter but failed in the senate, had a conference with President Roosevelt on the subject of rate legislation which lasted over an hour. After the conference Mr. Townsend seemed well pleased over his talk with the president.

"Do you expect that rate legislation will be enacted during the approaching session of congress?" he was asked.

"I have no doubt of it," replied Mr. Townsend. "The house has indicated where it stands on that proposition, and I believe there is a strong working majority in the senate in favor of such a measure."

He said it is his intention to have his bill in readiness for introduction in the house as soon as congress convenes. "I have been working on it practically throughout the summer and have it pretty well formulated. My effort now is to make certain that it shall cover what is expected of it. It will embody my ideas and at the same time I am quite sure it will represent accurately those of the president. That he will approve of it in the form I shall present it to congress I have no doubt."

"After making it perfectly clear that the provisions of the measure apply to private cars, refrigerator cars and terminal charges, it will be my purpose through the measure to confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to make its findings in any particular case effective within a reasonable time after announced. Efforts have been made to create the impression that it is the purpose of the advocates of rate legislation to give the interstate commission power to fix all the rates of a railroad. That is not true. It is intended only that the commission, if complaint be made to it that any particular rate is unjust, shall have power after due investigation to substitute a reasonable rate in case the complaint shall have been shown to be well founded. I expect to talk again with the president about the matter before I return to my home and to go over with Attorney General Moody some provisions of the measure, and especially those relating to the consideration of the cases by the United States courts."

IMPORTANT CATCH.

Man and Woman Captured in Chicago Supposed to Be Smugglers.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Two burglars of international reputation, it is believed, are in custody of government officials in this city. Henry Hoffman, who has a number of aliases, was arrested on charges of smuggling diamonds through the port of Boston. Mrs. Henry Schiller, who is also his prisoner, is believed to be the other burglar. The specific charge on which the prisoners are held is smuggling. Instead of being merely smugglers, however, it is now alleged that Hoffman and his companion were implicated in a robbery in London and in at least two large burglaries in New York city. According to government officials both prisoners confessed to having robbed the home of Isaac F. Lloyd in New York, where the woman was employed as a private servant. Hundreds of dollars' worth of diamonds and silver found where Hoffman and Mrs. Schiller were arrested was practically identified as having been taken from the Lloyd home in New York. They also had about 270 diamonds. Another charge which may be placed against the accused is that of robbing the Ansonia hotel in New York of thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry and wearing apparel.

Missed the Burglars.

Vandergrift, Pa., Oct. 6.—While hunting burglars around the home of his grandfather, Jacob Kanapenberger, Lloyd Remalay, 17, was shot in the abdomen by his uncle, Murray Kanapenberger, and the boy in frightened frenzy discharged his own revolver, the bullet striking his aunt, Lottie Kanapenberger, in the thigh. Remalay received the full charge of gunshot at close range, and lived in terrible agony several hours.

Took Acid by Mistake.

Toledo, O., Oct. 6.—Joseph Ganslein of Maumee committed suicide after taking a dose of muriatic acid instead of castor oil. He was employed at the Maumee pumping station.

Trouble With Indians.

Muskogee, I. T., Oct. 6.—Lake Moore, a banker and politician of Weleekia, one of the most prominent men in the Creek nation, was indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of larceny. It is alleged that Moore secured checks belonging to two Indians. He asserts that the Indians owed him money.

SON OF OSCAR

May Be Chosen by the Norwegians to Sit on Their Throne.

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Roosevelt received a call from Minister Grip of Sweden and Norway, who recently returned from a trip abroad, during which he visited not only Sweden and Norway but also several other European countries. He desired merely to pay his respects to the president on his return to the national capital. Minister Grip expressed the belief that within a few weeks an amicable adjustment of the differences between Sweden and Norway would be arranged. He believed, he said, that the future relations between the two countries would be entirely amicable. "Who, probably, will be chosen king of Norway?" he was asked. "It is not possible to say now," responded the minister, "but he not unlikely may be the son of King Oscar. That seems to have been the trend of sentiment when I was in the country. That selection would make for pleasant relations between the two countries."

COURT HOUSE NEWS

Suit Is Adjusted.

In the case of Herman Peters vs. the C. B. L. & N. T. Co., the matter was adjusted between the parties without trial to the jury. Plaintiff sued for damages growing out of the construction of the railway, claiming that, among other things, the drainage of his farm had been interfered with and damaged. The jurors were taken out to the National road to view the premises, and when they came into court to listen to the evidence, counsel announced that the amount of damages had been adjusted between the parties. A HAPPY YOUNG BRIDE.

One of the happiest young women in town was married only a few months ago, but her troubles began when she tried to think what to get her husband for a birthday present. Fortunately she consulted J. W. Collins & Son, our popular druggists, and they suggested a box of Wadsworth Bros. "Chicos."

Mr. Young husband congratulated his wife on her good judgment in selecting cigars, and says he will not smoke anything but "Chicos" in the future, not only because his wife gave them to him, but because they satisfy his fastidious taste exactly, and just meet the needs of his pocketbook. Wadsworth Bros. "Chicos" are usually a 10c cigar for 5c, as they are made with Havana filler, are good size, smoke free, and are a real cigar from the first puff clear up to the stub. J. W. Collins & Son are the local agents, and want all lovers of good cigars to try the "Chicos." $29-05-15

DIED IN A BARN.

Fate of the Man Who Made Greeley Candidate For President.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Louis Carmichael, 83, the man to whom history gives credit for the nomination of Horace Greeley for president in 1872, was found dead in a barn at Sidney, N. Y. Before the convention of 1872 Carmichael prevailed upon Horace Greeley to accept the nomination from the Democratic party if it could be secured for him. Greeley consented in a personal letter to Carmichael, and with this authority he interested Horatio Seymour and Dewitt C. Littlejohn and secured their pledges to support Greeley. Mr. Carmichael took charge of Greeley's boom, visited every county in the state and secured a united delegation for him from New York, then started the movement in other states. The result was the nomination of Horace Greeley at the convention in Cincinnati.

BILLY PURTELL TO PLAY AGAINST REDS

Popular Decatur Player Will Again Wear Newark Uniform—Praise Showered on Third Baseman.

The Advocate has received a copy of the Decatur Daily Herald containing a picture of Billy Purtell, the former Idlewild third baseman, who has been playing in the Three I league during the season just closed. Mr. P. W. Purtell of Columbus, father of this popular ball player, writes the Advocate that his son is now at home enjoying a much needed rest. In speaking of his son's work Mr. Purtell states that Billy will play in Newark Monday in the game against the Cincinnati Reds. The letter says: "Billy's father and mother, sisters and brothers will come to Newark to see the team make a good fight for the game. We all love the Newark team and want to see Willie knock her over the fence. He has a better bat now than the one I once brought over and in one game 7 men got 7 hits in one inning with it and won the game."

The sporting editor of the Review, another Decatur, Ill., paper says: "There is no more popular player in Decatur than our boy Billy and when he doesn't get one of those three baggers every day, we think he must be sick. I can't see where there is a third baseman in the league who has him bested."

This praise from Decatur will please the Newark fans who still retain a warm place in their hearts for the crack third baseman. There is not a man among them who would not be mighty tickled to see his name spread on a Newark contract for next year and if he is in need of friends he can always find them in Newark.

The game Monday with the Reds will see Purtell at third and another face at short for Wratton and Davis have both returned to their homes. The rest of the team will be here though and the game will be a winner.

JOE DOYLE

Makes a Hit With Mt. Vernon Fans in Game Against Canton Central Leaguers.

"Buck" Moore of Bellville, late of the Idlewild team, came to Mt. Vernon Wednesday and pitched for the locals in the afternoon against the Canton Central league team," says the Mt. Vernon Banner. "Moore pitched good ball and Mt. Vernon won out by a score of 5 to 1. Joe Doyle, the Idlewild catcher, was behind the bat for Mt. Vernon and caught an excellent game. His throwing to second cutting off runners was a feature of the game." It hasn't been very many moons ago that the Mt. Vernon papers were vying with each other to say complimentary things about Joe Doyle, and it is gratifying to note that they can now see his good points. It the Mt. Vernon fans knew Joe as well as he is known in Newark, those harsh remarks would never have found their way into print.

YOUNG GIRL

Mysteriously Dies in Chicago and Man Nearby is Found Unconscious.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The police and coroner are today diligently investigating the death of Irene Klatow, aged ten, yesterday in the home of Dr. Oliver B. Hart, 38 Rogers Park. Preceding death the girl had been unconscious several hours. The police advance the theory that she died from poisoning, but whether taken accidentally or administered is not yet determined. Hart was found not unconscious in a room adjoining the girl's bedroom. He had not regained consciousness this morning. Two policemen are stationed at Hart's bedside to remain until the coroner concludes the investigation into the girl's death. The pair was found by Mrs. Hart on her return from a shopping trip. She summoned physicians. Efforts to revive the girl were futile. The girl was formerly in the state industrial school, but was adopted a year ago by the Harts. According to the police the girl had been attacked and poisoned administered. In the child's room things were disarranged and her hair had been torn from her head, the police assert.

AUTUMN LUNCHEON.

Flowers For the Table—Pleasing Color Effects in the Menu.

A slight check on the too lavish use of some flowers for the table at social functions lies in the fact that few odors stimulate the appetite as do the nasturtium and carnation, and many people find the perfume of some disagreeable while partaking of food.

The delicate perfume of the golden-rod and purple aster and their rich colors, which blend so beautifully with their surroundings, make them very desirable for decoration. Tall, slender vases filled with the plummy golden-rod set in flat dishes in which asters are placed make lovely center and end pieces. Autumnal bouquets of golden-rod tied with lavender ribbon laid at every plate, alternating with asters tied with yellow, serve as souvenirs. Only clear glass and plain china should be used and a very little delicate feathery green. The color scheme can be carried out in the preparation of the menu in a very pleasing manner as follows:

Salmon Loafs.—This is cooled in a round mold and served on a chop plate garnished with blanched celery tops.

Potato Sticks.—Large potatoes are cut into long square strips and fried in deep fat.

Biscuits and Honey.—The yolk of eggs added to the milk used in mixing the baking powder biscuits gives them a golden color. Place them on a lavender tissue paper doily and serve the honey on a lavender plate if convenient.

Stuffed Eggs.—These are wrapped in yellow, white and lavender tissue papers, the ends of which are crimped and fringed like those of motto candies.

Sponge Bricks.—Cut a sponge or yellow cake, baked in a shallow pan, into bricks about two inches wide and four inches long. Frost on the top and sides with lavender frosting and before it sets press into it blanched almonds, forming a daisy, with a center of yellow frosting, or if preferred cup cakes, frosted with daisies arranged on the tops, can be used.

Other items are cheese, grapes, purple and white; yellow peaches and cream, ambrosia colored with grape or huckleberry juice and served in tall goblets; ice cream, lavender and yellow, served in sherbet glasses on paper doilies; coffee.—Table Talk.

How to Fill Pillows.

Any one who has tried to fill new ticking cases with feathers knows that the task is no easy matter. They fly here and there, stick to clothes, hair and carpets and nearly drive the worker frantic. But housekeepers of the good old days had a way of managing them which is well worth passing on to their grandchildren, as the New Idea Magazine tells. The new cases were sewed firmly all around except for a space of ten inches in the middle of one of the narrow ends. The case from which the feathers were to be taken was then ripped open for the same distance in the center of one of the ends, and the sides of the slit were stitched to the sides of the opening in the new case. This joined the two cases closely, leaving an opening between, through which the feathers were easily pushed by squeezing the outside of the case containing them. When the latter is empty the cases apart, collect the few that may still cling to the sides or corners of the old one, put them into the new pillow, sew up the slit, and the troublesome task is completed.

Roll 'Em Up.

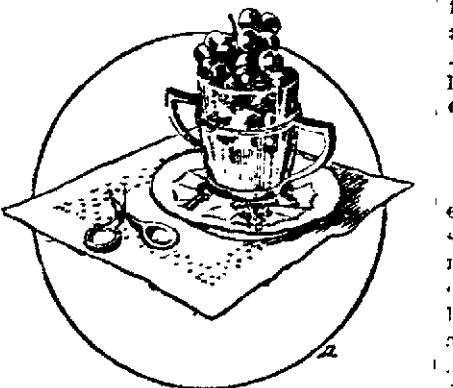

These little paper rolls of food are a German conceit and very tempting, particularly when served for breakfast with French fried potatoes and crisp radishes. To prepare select plump salt herring, remove the backbone and divide lengthwise into fillets and soak for six hours in cold water. Drain and on each piece lay three peppercorns, a tiny piece of a bay leaf, a bit of lemon peel, two or three cloves and half a teaspoonful of chopped onion. Roll up, tie with thread or fasten with tiny skewers and place in a crock. Heat sufficient vinegar to cover the fish and pour over it. Repeat this process for three mornings, when the roll 'em up will be ready to serve. If the vinegar is very sharp dilute with water to the amount of a third.

Tomato Bouillon.

Tomato bouillon is very appetizing. To one can of tomatoes add one quart of water and five onions. Let it boil until the juice is out of the onions. Strain and season with pepper and salt, dashing it with tabasco.

SLEEPING PORCHES.

A NEW IDEA IN THE SCHEME FOR OUTDOOR LIFE.

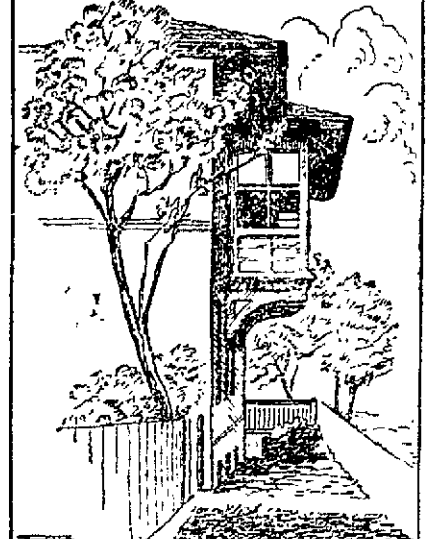

Eight Hours More of Fresh Air Out of Every Twenty-four—Denver Makes the Sleeping Porch an Architectural Feature.

My friend—a Denver attorney—smiled and stretched in modest appreciation of my congratulations upon his evidently fine physical condition.

"Yes," he said, "I've been sleeping outdoors for about six months now."

"Tent?" I asked.

"Oh, no; on the porch!" he explained. "Just take a cot out there nights—no body can see me from below—and go to sleep. Have got my wife into the habit of it, too, and I don't know whether we can go back inside for the winter or not. It seems mighty stuffy there."

"Gives me eight hours more fresh air out of the twenty-four, you understand," he added. "That means a lot to a man shut up as I am in an office."

Right he was; so here presented itself a fact—if "fact" it might be styled—that appeared worth looking into.

Denver builds its porches both on the front and on the back of the house. However, the back porch is not delivered over entirely, as might be expected, to mop and pails and other kitchen and cleaning utensils and debris, but is apt to be a two story affair, with a railing around the second story and a door opening into it or upon it from within. Here is a splendid place for dusting rugs and clothing and for sunning whatever at the moment requires to be sunned. Here is a fine place to sit and write or read or watch the ever changing mountains, invisible, perchance, from the front porch. And here is a grand place to sleep at nights.

The average Denverite when asked if many people of the city sleep out of doors is apt to confine the practice to invalids. As is well known, the chief element in fighting tuberculosis is fresh air—fresh air and pure air every moment. Therefore the invalids who are sent to Colorado have their instructions. Many sleep in tents, and it is not unusual to read the advertisement—By man and wife, a robbin with sleeping porch, and so on.

Thus introduced maybe by the weak, the sleeping porch practice is assuredly extending among the strong. Denver is witnessing houses being built with sleeping porches especially stipulated, but destined for use by the well, not by the sick.

In apartment houses loggias are being incorporated, whereon tenants may sleep, and an upper floor is left, roofed, but open, as available.

It is entirely feasible for a person of good constitution to pursue this healthful plan all through the winter with good result, since the gradual change from warm to cold weather serves to harden the system.—Edwin L. Salmon in Good Housekeeping.

FOURTEEN CENTS SUM SUED FOR

A B. & O. CASE INVOLVING THAT AMOUNT IS FILED IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Action is Brought by Man Who Declares the Company Charged Him Too Much Fare.

A case was filed in the Supreme court Thursday from Seneca county, the basis of which is the trifling sum of 14 cents. The style of the case is the B. and O. railroad company vs. Hal B. Hollenberger, though in the original case as tried in the courts below, the railroad company was the defendant. In his petition Hollenberger set forth that on one occasion he boarded a train of the company at Ashland to ride to Chicago Junction. The conductor charged him 85 cents though the distance as shown by the company's own route book is only 27 miles.

The legal rate under the laws of Ohio being only three cents a mile, Hollenberger figured out that the charge should not have been more than 71 cents. He had therefore been beaten out of 14 cents by the company. There is a provision in the law by which any passenger who is charged for transportation at a rate in excess of the legal rate may recover damages against the company in the sum of $150 and Hollenberger went after the company under this statute and got judgment.

A funny incident of the trial of the case in the common pleas court was that the attorney for the railroad company brought out the fact that a short time before the trip on which the overcharge was made Hollenberger went over the same road one night from Attica to Tiffin, and falling asleep was carried to Fostoria before he woke up. The conductor refused to send him back and he had to pay his fare. It was sought to show that this was the animus for the present suit, but it did not save the railroad company from judgment.

SHERIFF'S FUNERAL

At Mt. Vernon Was Largely Attended and Floral Offerings Were Profuse—Pallbearers from Lodges.

Mt. Vernon, O., Oct. 6.—The funeral of the late Sheriff James C. Shellenbarger occurred at 2:30 Thursday afternoon from the new Mulberry street Methodist Protestant church and was very largely attended.

At half past two the funeral cortege left the county jail and the remains of the late sheriff were conveyed to the M. P. church. The pall bearers consisted of the following: French W. Severns from the Masons, Park B. Blair and Howard C. Gates from the Odd Fellows, Howard McFarland from the Knights of the Golden Eagles, Lewis F. West from the Knights of the Maccabees and Harry Turner from the Knights of Pythias.

The services at the church were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. J. Alfred Selby, assisted by the Rev. W. A. Roush. The floral offerings were beautiful and profuse, the casket being almost hidden by roses and the late autumn flowers.

GREAT INTEREST

Is Manifested in Evening Educational Classes Now Being Conducted by Newark Y. M. C. A.

Greater interest is being manifested in the Evening Educational classes at the Y. M. C. A. this year than ever before. The new courses, the one in Practical Electricity taught by Mr. A. G. Hall and the course in Architectural Drawing by V. Emile Thebaud, architect, are especially popular. The class in Electricity had 12 men present last night.

A number of men are taking advantage of the opportunity of studying penmanship and book-keeping with Prof. L. C. Kline. The class began its work last night.

The course in Mechanical Drawing so successfully conducted the past two years by Mr. William Schroeder, is starting off with a large enrollment.

If attendance at the first meeting is any criterion the Male Chorus will be a sure success this year. Fourteen men met Prof. W. W. Nusbaum last night and voted unanimously to organize a male chorus class to meet every Thursday evening for the study of music and the drill in songs. All men who sing, whether of the association or not are urged to join the class.

Tonight the Business Arithmetic and Employed Boys Class meet. It is not too late to register for any of these courses.

DR. CREIGHTON HAS PASSED AWAY

NEWARK MINISTER OFFICIATING AT HIS BURIAL FRIDAY IN LITHPOLIS.

Adam Fisher Who Was Murderously Assaulted in Fairfield County is Now Out of Danger.

Lancaster, O., Oct. 6.—After having served 50 years as a minister of the Gospel, the life work of Rev. Dr. J. H. Creighton was closed by death Tuesday at 85 years old.

Death was the result of infirmities. He has been gradually sinking for six weeks and his passing away was not unexpected. Besides the aged widow, he leaves a son and a daughter, Rev. C. F. Creighton of Batavia, N. Y., and Mrs. Charles Brossman of Columbus.

Rev. Dr. Creighton was the second oldest member of the Ohio Methodist Episcopal conference in point of years and of service.

The funeral of Dr. Creighton was held at that village today at 10 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. W. D. Cherrington of Lancaster; Dr. A. H. Norcross, presiding elder of the Columbus district, and Rev. L. C. Sparks of Newark. Burial was made at Lithopolis.

Adam Fisher, the aged farmer who was murderously assaulted by a fiend who entered his house near Pleasantville Monday night and was severely cut with a penknife in the face, is doing nicely and will recover.
